JULY 17, 2012 TUESDAY 12:00 P.M. VOL. 73 NO. 42

THIS TUESDAY

Jerry Backstrom and a committee of many will make sure that everything is ready for our biggest Barbecue on July 21.

LAST TUESDAY

Sue Matchett came out of retirement and tried to educate us about the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights.

The Declaration of Independence was a statement adopted by the Continental Congress on July 4, 1776, which announced that the thirteen American colonies, then at war with Great Britain, regarded themselves as independent states, and no longer a part of the British Empire. John Adams had put forth a resolution earlier in the year, making a subsequent formal declaration inevitable.

A committee was assembled to draft the formal declaration, to be ready when congress voted on independence. Adams persuaded the committee to select Thomas Jefferson to compose the original draft of the document, which congress would edit to produce the final version. The Declaration was ultimately a formal explanation of why Congress had voted on July 2 to declare independence from Great Britain, more than a year after the outbreak of the American Revolutionary War. The Independence Day of the United States of America is celebrated on July 4, the day Congress approved the wording of the Declaration.

After ratifying the text on July 4, Congress issued the Declaration of Independence in several forms. It was initially published as a printed broadside that was widely distributed and read to the public. The most famous version of the Declaration, a signed copy that is usually regarded as the Declaration of Independence, is displayed at the National Archives in Washington, D.C. Although the wording of the Declaration was approved on July 4, the date of its signing was August 2. The original July 4 United States Declaration of Independence manuscript was lost while all other copies have been derived from this original document.

Reminder, we will be having Concerts in the Park on Wednesday. That hunk-a-hunk-of-burnin-love Raymond Michael will bring back Elvis. We will again be selling soft ice cream. There will a drawing from the 50/50 tickets for a pair of free tickets to our July 21 barbeque at Oak Ave. We will be selling raffle tickets and if you still have yours bring them to the park to sell.

We will also be giving away soft ice cream at the Chamber of Commerce mixer on Monday July 23 from 6-7:30 p.m.. We will be able to meet with city business men and explain our club while we help out with the festivities. We will need some people there to help move the ice cream machine.

We finally are having an Interclub with San Gabriel on Tuesday, July 24. Glad to see that they can not even meet in their city. Colonial Kitchen on Huntington Dr in San Marino at 7:30 A.M..
