LAST TUESDAY

President Elmer and John Gera proved that you are never too old to learn something new.

Elmer and John attended the District Convention in Reno last weekend. Things they learned were to involve potential members in service projects so they can see the work we do. We should be socializing more within our own club.

An amendment was defeated that would disallow former Lt. Governors being members of the Trustees.

Now to the real program: President Elmer led us through 5 pages of suggestions to improve our Annual BBQ. After much discussion it remains to be seen if we remember all the suggestions next July. We have these kind of exercises we seem to focus on the negative. We are doing a great job in the community with the limited number of members that we have. We need to stop "beating ourselves up" and focus on the good things.

After saying all this we are now accepting applications for "Mr. Happy #4".

Guests also attending the meeting were Monica Tyre, John Tyre (now would be a good time to send him a dues invoice), and Philip.

LABOR DAY has been celebrated on the first Monday in September in the United States since the 1880s. The form that the observance and celebration of Labor Day should take were outlined in the first proposal of the holiday — a street parade to exhibit to the public "the strength and esprit de corps of the trade and labor organizations" of the community, followed by a festival for the recreation and amusement of the workers and their families. This became the pattern for the celebrations of Labor Day. Speeches by prominent men and women were introduced later, as more emphasis was placed upon the economic and civic significance of the holiday. Still later, by a resolution of the American Federation of Labor convention of 1909, the Sunday preceding Labor Day was adopted as Labor Sunday and dedicated to the spiritual and educational aspects of the labor movement.

Today Labor Day is often regarded simply as a day of rest and, compared to the May 1 Labor Day celebrations in most countries, parades, speeches or political demonstrations are more low-key, although especially in election years, events held by labor organizations often feature political themes and appearances by candidates for office. Forms of celebration include picnics, barbecues, fireworks displays, water sports, and public art events. Families with school-age children take it as the last chance to travel before the end of summer. Some teenagers and young adults view it as the last weekend for parties before returning to school. However, of late, schools have begun well before Labor Day, as early as the 24th of July in many urban districts, including Nashville and Atlanta. In addition, Labor Day marks the beginning of the season for the National Football League and NCAA College Football. The NCAA usually plays their first games the weekend of Labor day, with the NFL playing their first game the Thursday following Labor Day.
